

Tuesday, February 28, 2012

The Radar: Best Spot to Relax in Style

Beauty+Grooming By Taylor Moore on February 28, 2012

This unique spa is a breath of fresh air from the usual, bland retreats.

Winter can be a drag—short days, freezing temperatures, Vampire-inspired skin tones...

What better way to rejuvenate, refresh, and warm up your body and mind than by checking in to Seattle's hottest new luxury day spa?

Located in the heart of downtown Bellevue, Yuan Spa offers a unique array of treatments including holistic massage, hydrotherapy, Acupuncture, and skincare therapy that includes the newest and most highly coveted advancement in non-laser skin resurfacing, HydraFacial therapy.

Disconnect and unwind at this serene urban oasis as you soak in their myriad of pools, exfoliate with a variety of sweet smelling salts under the twinkling lights of the steam room (literally, it's like lounging beneath the most beautiful blanket of stars in a steamy rainforest—minus the wildlife), and breath in tranquility in their stunning cedar sauna room.

Yuan Spa's soothing décor effortlessly blends Northwest style with subtle Asian-inspired accents—one step through their doors and you will instantly be transported to a far more relaxing and comfortingly exotic reality, we promise.

Whether you're looking to spend an entire day, or can only carve out a small chunk of time—Yuan Spa offers top of the line treatments that will heal your body and mind and help you, in their own words, 'rediscover your source.'

We'd like to rediscover our source every week, if possible. Call or book your appointment online today.

Yuan Spa | 1032 106th Ave. NE, Ste. 125, Bellevue | (425) 449-8788